

Confession and Self Examination

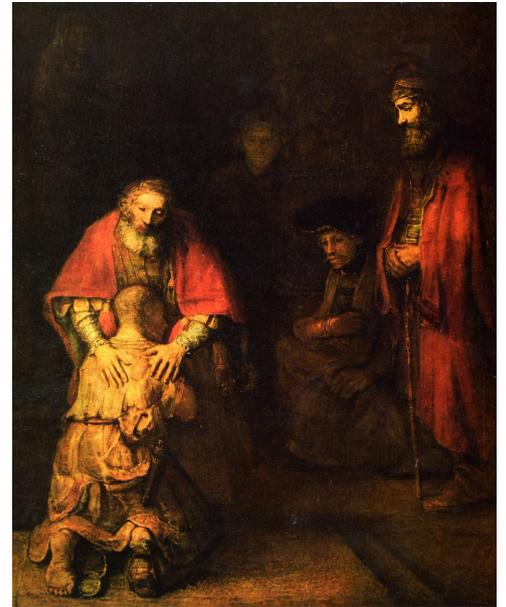

Self-examination is a process whereby the Holy Spirit opens my heart to what is true about me. This is not the same thing as a neurotic shame-inducing inventory. Instead it is a way of opening myself to God within the safety of his love so I can authentically seek transformation.

Confession embraces Christ's gift of forgiveness and restoration while setting us on the path to renewal and change.

True repentance means we open the bad in our lives to God. We invite him to come right in and look at our sin with us. We don't hide by being good, moral people or in neurotic self-recriminations. We don't pretend to be other than we are. We don't disguise the truth by carting out all the disciplines we practice. We tell it like it is—without rationalization, denial or blame—to the only person in the universe who will unconditionally love us when we are bad. We hand over the pretense, image management, manipulation, control and self-obsession. In the presence of the holy One we give up on appearing good and fixing our sin. We lay down our ability to change by the power of the self. We turn to Jesus and seek forgiveness.

Through confession and forgiveness we live into the truth of being Gods new creation! The old has gone. The new has come.

REFLECTION QUESTIONS

1. Does your confession tend to be along the lines of "Forgive my sins, dear Lord" rather than specifically naming your sins one by one before the face of God? What does the lack of specific confession do to self-awareness?
2. What experiences have affected your ability to give and receive forgiveness? Talk to God about what this means.
3. When have you tasted the joy of forgiveness? What was that like for you?
4. What is it like for you to confess your sins before a friend or confessor?
5. Which of your sins hurts those closest to you?

SPIRITUAL EXERCISES

1. Imagine you are in a safe place, surrounded by the love of God.
 - Ask God to help you see yourself as he sees you. Remember he sees you absolutely and with love.
 - Using the Ten Commandments as a guide, journal your sins. When you have finished, go through each commandment one at a time, asking God to forgive you and help you to change.
 - Then burn your list in a symbolic act of what it means to have God remove your sins from you.
2. Set aside some time for confession and self-examination. In the presence of God ask for light to pierce your defenses.
 - Then ask yourself, Who have I injured recently through thoughtlessness, neglect, anger and so on?
 - As the Holy Spirit brings people to mind, confess your feelings about these people to God. Ask God to forgive you and if need be to give you grace to forgive them.
 - Write an apology, make a phone call or confess out loud in an attempt to put the relationship back on track.

3. Make a life confession—alone or to a trusted friend or confessor.
 - Dividing your life into seven-year segments, reflect on the sins particular to each segment.
 - Confess your sins aloud. Receive the freedom that comes in knowing you stand completely in the clear before a holy God.

4. Ask some of your family and close friends to help you see your blind spots. Ask questions like,
 - i. What do I do that hurts you?
 - ii. How could I better love you?
 - iii. What is it like to be with me?
 - iv. Do I show interest in others or talk mostly about myself ?
 - v. Let their answers guide you in a time of confession.

5. Enter into a covenant group or an accountability relationship where you cannot hide. Tell the truth about who you are and ask your partners to pray for you and help you change.
6. Imagine the kind of person you would like to become in your old age. Then look at your life and assess whether or not the way you live now is preparing you to become this person. Confess where you need to change. Ask God and the community of faith for help.

7. Turn to Psalm 32 or Psalm 51. Use the psalm as a way of bringing your own sins before God. How does God meet you in these confessions of David?

8. How in touch do you feel with your own sin?
 - If you feel out of touch with your sin, honestly consider where some of the following sins show up in your life: envy, lust, greed, gluttony, deceit, lying, exaggerating, envy, anger, pretense, avoidance of responsibility.
 - What do you see about yourself ? How do you want to talk to God about these things?
 - Confess where you have fallen short of God's expectations, and receive his forgiveness.

9. Begin to notice your strong emotions. When do you feel yourself getting hot, defensive, angry, withdrawn? What is motivating your emotion? What behavior stems from your emotion?
 - As you attend to this internal world, ask God to make you alert to what triggers strong emotional reactions. Confess any sin relating to these reactions.
 - Practice noticing your internal world, and begin to develop a habit of immediate confession.

10. If you are interested in identifying your besetting sin or compulsion, read a book on the Enneagram such as The Enneagram: A Christian Perspective by Richard Rohr and Andreas Ebert.
